FENCES FOR FARMS.

The Southern Farm Magazine says:—There are a few States in the South that have been wise enough to abolish fences for the farm. North Carolina, Alabama and one or two others have recognized the fact that the agricultural interests are paramount, and should be protected in every possible way. When first proposed the doing away with fences met with much opposition, especially from those who depended upon the highway pasturage for summer grazing, but with experience the system has grown in popularity, and its effects are seen in the better cultivation of the farm and with a degree of prosperity among the farmers that was unknown before.

When one considers that the cost of fences amounts to many hundreds of millions of dollars, and that the fences need constant repair every year, it is amazing that any sensible people should incur such an expense for the benefit of those who have stock running out. If any legislature should dare to impose upon the people a tax equal to that which farmers now pay for fences there would be such a storm of indignation aroused as would sweep from place and power everyone who had an agency in imposing such a tax. Yet we see the representatives of the people meeting in their regular general assemblies, and while pretending to devise measures of relief for taxpayers, they suffer one of the greatest burdens ever imposed upon a people to go on from year to year without taking any steps toward relieving it.

There is no sense or reason for requiring farmers by law to keep their fields enclosed. The object of fences should be reversed, and instead of being built to keep stock out, they should be built to keep stock in. By doing this four-fifths of the annual outlay for fences could be dispensed with and the money applied to the improvement of the soil or erecting the necessary buildings upon the farm. Habit once established is blind. It pursues its path without reason. When the South was first settled the proportion of unimproved land was very small, and highway pasturage was relied upon for grazing all kinds of stock. As the country settled up farms were enlarged. The proportion of woodlands decreased and the highway pasturage became less serviceable until in the more thickly settled portions of the country it was abandoned altogether, except by the improvident and shiftless farmers. The reason for enclosure having ceased, the enclosures themselves should be abandoned.

Resolution Of Respect.

The Mutual Protection Society, Louisa Lodge No. 117, Resolutions adopted at its meeting on the 24th day of March, 1904. Whereas, It has pleased Almighty God to call from labor to his home beyond, our beloved brother, Mr. Alexander Lackey, to reap his reward for his faithful, true and honest life, therefore, Be it resolved, That this Lodge has lost an honored and efficient member, the bar an eminent lawyer, and the community and the State a large noble character. Be it resolved, That we extend to the bereaved family of our beloved brother, our heartfelt sympathy, expressing the deep sorrow we feel in his loss to us as a fraternity, to his family as a loving husband and beloved father, a kind and affectionate brother and friend, and we trust we may all emulate his beautiful life.

Be it further resolved, That his widow and children may always feel that they will always meet with a hearty response to any demands they may make upon this Order of members of which we cherished him, and that we will seek in every way possible to make their loss of husband and father bear lightly upon them in their bereavement. Be it resolved, That these resolutions be spread at large upon the minutes of this society; a copy be sent to the bereaved family, and a copy to the BIG SANDY NEWS for publication.

A Great Sensation.

There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insupportable agonies from asthma but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by A. M. Hughes Druggist. Trial bottles free.

How to Keep Seeds.

The length of time which seeds can be kept and still show a good percentage of germination varies greatly. The seeds of some vegetables, including parsnip and celery, will rarely germinate after they are one year old. Onion seeds are not good after the second year; beans and peas can be kept three to four years; wheat, three to six years; while seeds of cucumbers and melons can be kept seven to ten years.—Country Life.

An Aggravating Cough Cured.
A customer of ours who had been suffering from a severe cough for six months, bought two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy from us and was entirely cured by one and a half bottles of it. It gives perfect satisfaction with our trade.—Haynes-Parker & Co., Lineville, Ala. For sale by A. M. Hughes.

Mr. Petty had his little finger cut off and two others mashed while uncoupling cars. He went to his home in Greenup.

Erie Stone has bought the big Fulton mill and will operate it on Guyan river.

Mr. Wheeler and family have moved back to Cane's creek from Ashland, where they lived two years.

She must have been a Kentuckian

"Where are you going my pretty maid?"
"To the World's Fair at St. Louis, sir," she said.
"Over what line will you travel, my dear?" said he.
"Over the Henderson Route, of course," said she.
"Why over that road do you go?" he said.
"For Free Reclining Chair Cars, sir," she said.
"And where does this Palace of Travel?" said he.
"From Kentucky—through Evansville—to St. Louis," said she.
"You seem to be pleased with that line," he said.
"They are 'Good Service' originators, sir," she said.
"I'm traveling another route—'tis as good," said he.
"You'll have to show me," kind sir, said she.
"All lines look alike to me," he said.
"I can only see one—The Henderson," she said.
"I need me a helpmate, my dear," said he.
"Won't you travel to St. Louis, my wife, with me?"
"I doubt not a helpmate you need," said she.
"But the Henderson Route Comfort Line—for me?"
"Then, will you not come my way?" he said.
"No, I'm for the 'Henderson' any day," she said.
"Is the choice of routes worth more than my love?" said he.
"Not but the Choice of Routes is, dear sir," said she.
"How, then, can I wed you, fair maid?" he said.
"Get the 'Henderson Route' habit first," she said.

MORAL TO MEN.

A disordered stomach may cause one of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are pneumonia and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by A. M. Hughes.

Black Diamond 109 Feet High.

A monument of coal towering 109 feet above the ground will be erected at St. Louis to advertise to the world one of the natural resources of West Virginia. The black diamond shaft will represent the the twenty-two workable veins of coal found in the mountains and each vein will be placed in its relative order. It will be the largest, most unique exhibition of coal ever made. The shaft will be twelve feet square. At night it will be brilliantly illuminated, so that it can be seen for a distance of twelve miles. The shaft, together with the lumber exhibit will cost $90,000. The State appropriated $50,000, the rest is by paid the individuals, mostly coal men. The entire West Virginia exhibit is nearly ready for erection.

A Cure for Headache.

Any man, woman or child suffering from headache, biliousness or a dull drowsy feeling should take one or two of DeWitt's Little Early Risers night and morning. These famous little pills are famous because they are a tonic as well as a pill. While they cleanse the system they strengthen and rebuild it by their tonic effect upon the liver and bowels. Sold by Louis Drug Co.

The Virtues of Piety.

I had a cook who could not read, or even tell the hour by the clock, but she boiled eggs with perfect accuracy. When asked one day: "But how do you know when they are ready, Chucca?" she answered with a smile which showed all her fine teeth, "Senor, I boil them by the Creed."

She had been taught like other Mexican village girls, to patter off the Apostles' Creed. She did not know quite well what the words meant, but they just did nicely to boil eggs with. She put the eggs in the pot (in the coffee pot with the coffee, but that is a mere detail) and began to say her creed. At "Amen" the eggs were ready.

DO IT TO DAY.

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'til tomorrow what you can do today," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it today!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demoralizing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it today—and let that remedy be Dr. Rosche's German Syrup, which has been in use for thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size 75c. At all druggists.

Value of Moral Training.

In bringing up our children, we have learned that in regard to religious matters, the sacred needs to be diluted with the secular. In other words, religious instructions in the abstract is not nearly so efficacious in character building as the making a few principles of righteousness a vital part of life. Practice is better than precept, says Good Housekeeping. My boy quickly learned the Bible's injunctions as to kindness and generosity, but when he gave ten cents of hard earned money to help a poor woman, the act made a greater impression upon his nature than all his Sunday schooling. Most of us parents need to realize that actions speak louder than words—that a good example and right deeds by parents, during the week have more effect upon the child than church going alone.

A Thoughtful Man.

M. M. Austin or Winchester, Ind. knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had taken an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c. at A. M. Hughes drug store.

Timely Hints on Giving.

We should not give people things they do not want. We should avoid giving anybody the mumps or the chicken-pox if we can help it. Do not give a friend the cold shoulder without baked beans and hot coffee to go with it. A man should not give a lady a kiss unless he thinks she would enjoy it, except in the case of his wife and his mother-in-law.

Do not give red suspenders to a total stranger; he might prefer these of a pale blue shade instead. Do not present a bucking broncho to a tall, pale man of sedentary habits, as he would not likely live long to enjoy it. When you give castor oil to a howling infant give it for its intrinsic worth and not merely as an evidence of your regard.—Lippincott's.

Foley's Kidney Cure if taken in time affords security from all kidney and bladder diseases. Louis Drug Co.

Words Of Wisdom.

Habit is the deepest law of human nature.—Carlyle.
Good nature is stronger than tomahawks.—Emerson.
Talebearers are just as bad as talemakers.—Shoridan.
Those who complain most are most complained of.—M. Henry.
Almost always the most indigent are the most generous.—Stanislaus.
True gentleness is native feeling heightened and improved by principle.—Blair.
He that thinks he can afford to be negligent, is not far from being poor.—Johnson.
Persistent people begin their success where others end in failure.—Edward Eggleston.
He who commits injustice is ever made more wretched than he who suffers it.—Pinto.
A friend that you have to buy won't be worth what you pay for him no matter what that may be.—G. D. Prentice.

Here is a farmer's recipe for ridding his premises of rats and mice: If you will sprinkle sulphur on the barn floor and thru your corn as you gather, there will not a rat or mouse bother it. I have done this for several years and have never been bothered with rats or mice. I have some old corn in a crib at present, and not a rat or mouse can be found. In stacking hay or oats sprinkle a little on the ground and thru each load, and my word for it, rats or mice can't stay there. A pound of sulphur will be sufficient to preserve a large barn of corn and is good for stock and will not hurt the corn for bread.

GOOD SPIRITS.

Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. Their main source is the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the Blue Grass State could not remedy a bad liver on the hundred-and-one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a bad liver at the same time. Your liver must be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eye, light of step, vigorous and successful in your pursuits. You can put your liver in fine condition by using Green's August Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty-five years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active and thus insure you a liberal supply of "good spirits." Trial size 25c; regular bottles, 75c. At all druggists.

Robbed The Grave.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters: to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c. guaranteed, at A. M. Hughes drug store.

GOVERNOR McCORD

Recommends Peruna to All Catarrh Victims.

Hon. Myron H. McCord, Ex-Governor of New Mexico, in a letter to Dr. Hartman, from Washington, D. C., says: "Dear Sir:—At the suggestion of a friend I was advised to use Peruna for catarrh, and after using one bottle I began to feel better in every way. It helped me in many respects. I was troubled with colds, coughs, sore throat, etc., but as soon as I had taken your medicine I began to improve and soon got well. I take pleasure in recommending your great remedy to all who are afflicted with catarrh.—M. H. McCord." Thousands of cases of chronic catarrh have been cured by Peruna during the past winter. There are no successful substitutes for this remedy.

Allow no one to convince you to the contrary. Send to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, for a free catarrh book entitled "Winter Catarrh."

Strange Specimen Of Humanity.

Norton was visited last week by a most unfortunate and at the same time a very interesting piece of humanity. He was a man by the name of John Clark, of Huntington, W. Va., who was shipwrecked 24 years ago, losing both eyes both legs all of his fingers. He was unconscious for ten months and totally blind for five years afterwards. The man now appears with two cork legs, one glass eye and goes around by the aid of two crutches. The physicians succeeded in operating on the optic nerve so that the man now sees with one eye, which is glass, and so far as can be discerned is not different from other glass eyes, but the man can see through it. He is about 50 or 60 years of age and is drumming for a medical house. The writer did not see the gentleman, but talked to reliable persons who did see him and will vouch for these statements.—Norton Va. Free Press.

How to Ward Off an Attack of Rheumatism.

"For years, when spring time came on and I went into garden, I was sure to have an attack of rheumatism and every attack was more severe than the preceding one," says Josie McDonald, of Man, Logan county, West Va. "I tried everything with no relief whatever, until I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and the first application gave me ease, and before the first bottle was used I felt like a new person. Now I feel that I am cured, but I always keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, and when I feel any symptoms of a return I soon drive it away with one or two applications of this liniment."
